

Joel started as the Director of Marketing in 2022. With 20 years in the life science industry, he has successfully led both upstream and downstream marketing initiatives for various companies. Joel graduated from the University of Utah with a BS in marketing. Prior to college, he served a volunteer mission in Japan with his church. Outside of work, Joel and his wife spend time with their children. He's an avid DIYer and loves sports and outdoor recreation.